mitted discrimination against the interests of his state.

Senator Ashurst said the 15 cents' rate asked for represented only the difference in the cost of production in the southwestern states and in Egypt, from which country the United States imports approximately half of its long staple cotton. He urged that the Arizona cotton was as good as that grown in Egypt and that if given protection the industry would grow to such an extent that it could supply all of the needs of the country.

that if given protection the industry would grow to such an extent that it could supply all of the needs of the country.

Opposing any rate on the staple. Senator Stanley, democrat, Kentucky, declared that it would be a blunder for the government to advance millions to reclaim the arid lands of the southwest so cotton could be produced and then impose a tax on all of the people of the country so that the cotton might be grown. This brought a fiery reply from Senator Ashurst, who told of the great consumption of eastern-made goods by the people in the southwest to show that reclamation of the land had been advanced from the money had been advanced from the money had been advanced from the sale of public land and was being paid back to the government.

Attacking the rate with characteristic vigor, Senator Simmons of North Carolina, the democratic leader in the tariff fight, declared this was a "mere illustration of the character of this bill."

"Reeks With Subsidies."

"Talk about the ship subsidy" he exclaimed. "This bill is reeking with subsidies more in the nature of gratuities than the ship subsidy will be. This is a subsidy to the growers of 100,000 bales of cotton to be paid by the people of the country to subside subsidies."

MAJ. GEORGE W. STEELE,

subsidies more in the nature of gratuities than the ship subsidy will be. This is a subsidy to the growers of 100,000 bales of cotton to be paid by the people of the country many times over. In the case of the ship subsidy the government collects the money and pays it over to the ship owners, but in this case the government would authorize and empower the manufacturers of cotton goods to collect the subsidy from the people, paying over part of it to the cotton growers of Arizona and putting the rest in their pockets."

This brought a reply from Senator Shortridge, republican, California, who asserted that to call the cotton duty a subsidy had no weight; that the cotton duty a subsidy had no weight; that the cotton for the departed this life one paying over part of it to the cotton growers of Arizona and putting the rest in their pockets."

Diver. Notice of funeral hereafter.

Daddy, how hard we tried to save you,
Prayers and tears were all in valu;
Happy angels cuine and took you
From this world of care and pain.

No one knows the silent heartaches,
Only those who have lost can tell
Of the grief that is borne in silence,
Of the one we loved so well.

In Memoriam.

BEECHAM. In sad but loving remembrance of our dear father. WILLIAM BEECHAM, who departed this life two years ago, July 11, 1920. 11, 1920.
You are not forgotten, father dear,
Nor ever you shall be:
For as long as life and memory last
We will aiways think of thee.
BY HIS DEVOTED CHILDREN.

D'AMATO. In sad but loving remembrance of our dear baby girl ESTER, who left us one year ago today. Dear little face that smiled in love, Pale little hands, so chill: Gone to a happier world above. For the pale little hands are still.

But the love she lived and the love we gave is vital, alive, today. Her tender life we could not save, But she lives in our love, for aye. DICKINSON. In sad and loving remembrance of my dear mother, MAY CATHERINE DICKINSON, who departed this life July 18, 1893, twenty-nine years ago today. HER SAD AND LONELY DAUGHTER BERTHA.

he is not dead, she is just away! HER DAUGHTERS AND GRANDSONS. MILLER. In loving femembrance of REN JAMIN E. MILLER, beloved son of A Miller, who departed this life three year ago today, July 13, 1919.

Baby, dear, we loved you.
But God loved you best,
And took you home to heaven
To keep you with the rest.
BROTHER AND SISTER.

Dear is the grave where my baby is laid. Rweet is the memory which never shall fade; Flowers may wither, leaves fade and die, Others may forget you, but never will I. DADDY. * MILLER (McGauli). In sad and loving memory of our dear daughter and niece. ALBERTA FERN MILLER (nee McGauli), who passed away one year ago today, July 13, 1921. 13. 1921.

We have not forgotten you, Fern, For that is what we could not do; Just as long as life lasts We will remember you. MOTHER AND AUNT LULA. *
